Le Chef

Hello! I'm Jonathan. For more than a decade I've been drawn to cooking by the way it grows community, nourishes hearts, and fosters connection with nature and land. I live on an ecovillage where I cook straight from the garden, and cook for groups focused on community, personal development, and spirituality. These interests influence my cooking style – I love to play with what the season delivers, tune into what our human bodies need, and make feasts for the eyes as much as the tastebuds.
